

Principal – Ms. Alka Gupta in conversation with Ms. Sandhya Viswan- 12 November, 2022

At NPS Whitefield, we believe that values such as discipline, kindness, courage, humility, truthfulness, integrity, respect, hard-work, tolerance, compassion, empathy, and inclusivity are extremely important to be instilled from an early age, to build a child's character, as it forms the very core of their being and becomes the foundation of their moral beliefs throughout their lives.

Values pave the path for all their decisions in life, as without these values, children do not have any guidance and their life may seem directionless. In order to be accepted and respected by society, parents and caregivers should make sure of imbibing these strong values in children as a lifestyle itself.

The same was reaffirmed and stressed upon in an interview with Sandhya Viswan, Co - founder Ed- Deed, for the 6th series of Principal talks, held on 12, November, 2022.

Team NPS Whitefield, strongly acknowledges the responsibility of the School, parents, and caregivers to provide this value education to our students, as early as possible to mould them into the person that we want them to be.

Therefore, we lay stress on the importance of values, which are the basic foundation that reflect the integrity and humanity in a student's life.
